Security That Matters Most

It will take a while to get used to the International Red Cross as a missile-inspecting agency in Cuba.

But in a time of chaos it's possible to get used to anything. It isn't as though the Red Cross actually was looking for missiles or

Its job, if no complications develop, will be to confirm an absence of missiles. In this sense, it will be doing no more than it has done before. It will be using its good offices to close a breach in international

The International Red Cross apparently is something Cuba's Fidel Castro feels he can trust on Cuban soil.

He could not afford to lose face by letting U.S. inspection teams actually go over the ground to make certain the Russians have given up their plan to use Cuba as a missile base for attacking the United States.

He could not let the United Nations do the job, and in this he was logical. The Soviet Union belongs to the United Nations. It could not inspect itself

But apparently he did feel that the good faith of the International Red Cross could be put to use to inspect Cuba without rais-

For the United States, unless the Kennedy administration lets itself be fouled in legalistic webs, the question of inspection is beside the point. U.S. planes have been inspecting Cuba by camera day in and day out; the inspection should continue for signs of another missile buildup. More recently the United States has been inspecting the ocean around Cuba for evidence of Russian hostility. That should Having wakened up to a real and present danger in Cuba, the United States should not drop off into another snoozing illusion of collective. The security that matters most is the kind we make for ourselves.

No Better Luck Next Time

There has come to be a sense of remorse at the end of election campaigns. It is as vital and real as the sense of anticipation at the beginning of the campaigns.

By the time it's over, "we've had it."

Everybody is wondering if this is the way it has to be; if there couldn't be a better way to whoop up enthusiasm and give voters a fighting chance to know enough about forthcoming decisions to help make them

There is a better way. It has been proposed in the wake of the last few presidential elections. It has been given a sympathetic hearing by political candidates and their managers. It has been given a powerful boost by television, which gives instantaneous "exposure" to candidates for national and statewide offices.

Delay the beginning of campaigns until at least Oct. 1.

Compress the ordeal for the candidates into one month or less.

Avoid the psychological error of wearing out voters with repetition.

Give no one an excuse to complain he is "sick" of politics, because the fact is that politics-good, bad, and indifferent-is the price we pay for representative democracy. The possibility of reform is attractive at the end of campaigns. Thereupon it is forogotten, because the campaigns are over.

We'll be lucky in 1964 if the whole year isn't given over to presidential campaigning, which in fact will start as soon as the results of governorship races in New York, Michigan and California are made known early Wednesday morning.

The mystery about Powers was what happened to his plane. The obvious surmise was that it had been shot out of the air by the Russians. A Russian government spokesman said this had been made possible by a "remarkable new rocket" and that chev himself had given the firing order.

This was pooh-poohed in the United States, which asserted no such rocket existed; that Powers had been flying too high (more than 65,000 feet) to be hit. Moreover, he had been captured alive and the Russians had many identifiable parts of his airplane on

Old And The New

And it undersocred the fact that there still is a place for the old.

It was the "old Navy", represented by destrovers and aircraft carriers, that was called upon to seek out and run down the Russian ships bringing arms to Fidel Castro. This was the modern-day application of the old sea blockade; a policy almost as old as the U.S. Navy itself. In fact, the Navy was scarcely seven years old in 1801 when it was called upon to blockade the North African port of Tripoli in reprisal for pirate raids on American shipping in the Mediterranean.

The blockade of Tripoli lasted a year before Capt. Richard Dale had to call off his two frigates, a sloop and a schooner for an odd reason. Enlistments were running out and his men wanted to go home.

Since then, American blockades have been more successful.

North America is no more immune to sabotage than is South America, where the acrid odor of explosives is beginning to seep through many lands.

A specialist in countering industrial espionage and sabotage carefully explained our security forces' concern to this columnist the other day.

How do you keep spies, colinizers and "sleeping" sabotage specialists from infiltrating the plants of some 25,200 contractors who have been cleared for classified defense work? In addition there are hundreds of other defense installations.

AT THE MOMENT there is a special list of 3,000 key defense facilities in which every employe must be fully cleared. And the list is growing. These are the facilities in which no member of the Communist party is permitted to work-even as a janitor.

Even in these days of vastness, the astronomical nature of the assignment is tough to grasp. Our government is spending more than $12 billion a year on "secret" gadgetry and special sup-

There are other techniques including subversion. This means selecting Communist sympathizers and placing them in contact with undercover agents-usually operating from a U.N. mission or from one of the Soviet-bloc consulates in our big cities.

There also are the Soviet undercover agents illegally crossing the U.S. border and making contact with trusted party members not generally used in military espionage. Such an agent works alone. He only makes contact when he needs funds.

His mission is to obtain pictures, sketches and biographic data on major industrial operations and those who direct them.

FINALLY there is the trained spy, posing as a diplomat, working out of the embassies in New York and in Washington.

Sounds melodramatic. My source talked of two "incidents" this summer. He did not say they were the result of Soviet sabotage. But he said they could have been.

One occurred on June 25. Some 30 sticks of dynamite were found just short of a burned-out fuse. The "bomb" was at the base of a microwave tower in what the Royal Canadian Mounted describe as the "ghost city" of Phoenix, near Greenwood, British Columbia. Today is Tuesday, Nov. 6, the 310th day of 1962. There are 55 days left in the year. Today is election day. Today's highlight in history:

On this day in 1936, an agree ment on conduct rules for submarines was signed in London by all signatories of the 1922 Washington Naval Treaty. The accord provided that submarines were not to sink or disable a merchant vessel unless all passengers and crew first had been safeguarded. On this date:

In 1792, George Washington was reelected president of the United States.

In 1847, the first American missionary church in China was organized.

In 1928, Herbert Hoover was elected president of the United States in a landslide victory over Democrat Al Smith.

In 1958, France's most exclusive decoration, the Order of the Liberation, was presented to Sir Winston Churchill by Premier Charles deGaulle.

Washington Deceit

By David Lawrence

News Misrepresentation Termed Dangerous

Suppression of military news in of war or international emergency is defensible. But any deliberate misrepresentation of the news by the government that c auses the press to publish untrue or m isle ading news reports is indefensible in a democ-

It now has David Lawrence been revealed that during the current Cuban crisis - and as a policy for the future - various officials of the Kennedy administration believe they have a right to deceive the American people as to what is actually going on and to use the press to convey certain impressions to foreign governments. This is unprecedented in American history.

The argument is that "the end justifies the means" but overlooked is the fact that credulity can thus be broken down. This could lead a foreign government to distrust statements of resoluteness issued by the government here and to construe them as sheer bluff. Grave consequences - possibly even war - could, therefore, flow from tactics of misrepresentation.

Two of the principal newspapers of the United States have already protested publicly against any policy of manipulation of the press. They are the New York Times and the Evening Star of Washington, D. C.

The Star in an editorial Wednesday said that only those portions of the news about the Cuban blockade were made available by the Defense Department which its 'omniscient manipulators of public opinion decided, in their infinite wisdom, would best serve to create the 'image' of this country's activities they wished to manufacture and place before our people and the world."

THE STAR in its news columns the previous day had quoted the assistant secretary of defense in charge of press relations as hav-

"I can't think of a comparable situation, but in the kind of world we live in, the generation of news by the government becomes one weapon in a strained situation. The results, in my opinion, justify the methods we used."

In its editorial comment, the Star said:

"Weigh those words. Their danger of being bombed. meaning is truly sinister. In an administration that is becoming quite notable in its efforts toward achieving managed control of the news, Mr. Sylvester may have overlooked one likely result of 'the methods we used.' This result is that Mr. Sylvester and his superiors, from this time on, are suspect.

"They have, in our opinion, recklessly and thoughtlessly forfeited a confidence that in this country has been the rule, rather than the exception. What they say from now on, as arbitrarily established sources of public information, may be the truth. But that truth will be accepted with a grain of salt. . .

"One may hope that having tasted the fruits of a use of power more readily identified with the Soviet Union, with Hitler, Mussolini and a long string of new if lesser dictators than with our own country, those in high places will now realize that this fruit is poison and discard it before an antidote becomes necessary.'

THE NEW YORK Times in its editorial - also on Wednesday said that censorship in time of crisis is understandable and necessary and that the press should exercise self-restraint. The Times, however, then added this warn-

"But to attempt to manage the news so that a free press should speak - in Sylvester's words -in one voice to your adversary' could be far more dangerous to the cause of freedom than the free play of dissent, than the fullest possible publication of the Interest now centers in what really did happen between Monday, Oct. 15, when 400 editors from all parts of the country were briefed and told that no invasion or blockade was contemplated, and Saturday, Oct. 20, when President Kennedy made his decision to blockade and, if necessary, to invade Cuba to get rid of the Soviet missile bases.

The high officials of the Department of State who conducted the briefing midday on Monday, Oct. 15, must have known that the air flights over Cuba were being conducted and that available evidence strongly pointed toward the existence of offensive missile power in

Although confirmation came to the Defense Department Monday night and to the White House early Tuesday morning, no steps were taken in the subsequent six days to inform the press that it had been misled. Was this intentional or unintentional?

WHEN A CHANGE in strategy was announced by the President on Monday evening, Oct. 22, there was no explanation of why, during the preceding days of the week, the President had gone out campaigning even after he had received on Oct. 16, the official photographs showing that the bases could become operational and that American cities were in

The country has been led to believe that in a nuclear age a President should be able to order retaliatory measures in a few minutes or hours the same day. Why was the risk taken on the missile bases in Cuba?

Access to all the facts should be given now lest newsmen in the future here and abroad tend to disbelieve official briefings as merely a contrived way of creating a certain "image" for political purposes - national or inter-

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW: A few days ago I was parked in front of The Review office at the first meter. I put one nickel and five pennies in the meter. It did not register, so I left a note for the Meter Maids stating my attempts to make the meter register. And when I came back to my car there was a ticket. This was very unfair to my way of thinking, so I wrote a note explaining what I had done. Now, however, I have a summons to pay $2 for the city's negligence

I was in town to take my cerebral palsy child to school. We parents feel the city should make a legal place for parking with these children. Anyone who had to care or carry these heavy, awkward children would know what we parents must go through. Sometimes it is so much as two or three blocks of carrying a large child of 13 and under.

Our city has these special truck parking meters, so why can't there be four or five meters close by set aside for this purpose? Our school is only on Tuesday and Thursday afternoon from 1 until 5. I don't feel this would hinder your city in any way.

We certainly would like some consideration on this matter. Please have meters that work right or some maids that can read a note.

2 Potters At VMI . . .

Tom Myers and Garry Kemple, a couple of East Liverpool boys, are making their marks in athletics at poll. Virginia Military Institute, Lexington, Va.

Kemple played varsity basketball for ELHS under Fighting Irish can hang on for West. Coach John Karaffa and both boys were graduated one more week they'll become the Coach Ray Hoyman's Big Red benville, suffered their losses at least that is the latest word from the local high school in 1958.

Sessoms reported that Tom is currently the third following the Nov. 9-10 games, sorb its first setback said: unit fullback on the VMI varsity team. football, his performance this fall has come as a totally Barberton, Cleveland Benedictine, Steubenville right at the top. And latter is winless in 45 straight scored four touchdowns for a 130unsuspected but pleasant surprise," Sessoms added.

"He's doing a fine job for us. Right now he is averaging 4.2 yards per carry on 34 yards in eight assignments. Defensively, he plays corner linebacker when he's in the game, as do all our fullbacks."

'Tom has not seen a lot of duty in actual minutes played as we are essentially a two-unit team. He has given a very good account of himself when he's had the opportunity though, as his statistics would indicate.'

At present, VMI has a 5-0 record against Southern Conference opponents and can win its fourth conference title if it can get by a Thanksgiving Day game with Virginia Tech.

Also On Wrestling Team . . .

When it comes to wrestling though, Myers doesn't take a back seat to anyone at VMI. He is a letterman with the varsity wrestling team, competing in the 157pound class last winter and will be heavily counted on as a starter again this year at either 157 or 167.

Oh yes, as a closing gesture to Myers, Sessoms told us, "Tom will be one of the first guys we photograph

It must run in the family, because Tom's younger brother, Bud never played football at ELHS until his senior year and it took him only a few games to make the starting team. He went on to be one of the outstanding linemen. In fact he was voted the rookie award on the 1960 squad.

Their father is Corliss Myers, 2213 St. Clair Ave.

Kemple May Be Starter . . .

GETTING back to Kemple. He is a returning letterman at the Virginia school.

Garry saw just enough action last year to win a letter, but four seniors graduated off of last year's cage squad so Kemple is very much in the running for a starting berth this year. According to Sessoms, "Kemple is a fine playmaker as a guard and a good defensive man. He must shoot more though, as he can hit in practice but seldom fires away in a game. He'll see a lot of duty this winter and could be a starter in our first game because of his experience."

Toledo Band Members Beaten . . .

WE REALIZE Steubenville Big Red school officials have taken great strides to eliminate rowdyism at athletic events that take place in Steubenville.

Several years ago most schools in the Ohio Valley, including East Liverpool, dropped athletic relations with Big Red.

Sometimes stupid actions by a few youths can reflect on the school and Steubenville had another case of it Friday night following the Big Red-Toledo Central game after Steubenville had lost 20-12. Four members of the Toledo Central Band were injured when they were attacked by a group of boys after the game. One of the four was injured seriously. The group included two girl band members and two boys. One boy, a 15-year-old lad, was retained at Ohio Valley Hospital.

Six youths ranging in age from 17 to 20 were picked up by police for investigation in connection with the ball team may go to a bowl for Army has a record of six vice attack and were held in the city jail. Police asked the the first time at the end of this tories and one defeat, losing only entire Toledo band to report to the police headquarters season. SALINEVILLE High School, under first-year coach Lewis Higgenbotham, wound up with the best own. I'd want the players to want record at that school in the last six seasons.

Higgenbotham brought his squad on late in the season. After winning only one game and tieing one, Salineville came to life to win two straight over Conotton Valley and United, then played a scoreless tie with Chester in the final game of the campaign last Friday

It was reported incorrectly in Saturday's Review, but Salineville had a 11-4 edge in first downs and not

The Indians were only outclassed in one game all season and that was in the Springfield game.

OFFICIALS from the Columbiana County Football chapter donated their time to work the East Liverpool-Salem reserve game Saturday night. They included Dick Owen, Harry Wolfe and Del Manning. We are sure the Blue and White Nonpareil Club, who sponsored the game, appreciated their service.

IN THE stands at the Salem game Friday night watching his nephew Len Oliver smack over for two touchdowns was Ed Oliver, who in this writer's opinion was one of the best all around backs who ever put on a blue and white uniform.

Oliver went on to play at the University of Miami.

from the sun evaporates huge quantities of water from the ocean, lakes and streams, and the leaves of plants. This becomes the invisible water vapor in the air. As warm, moist air rises, it is cooled off. Cool air can't hold as much moisture as warm; so this rising air, as it cools, may be unable to hold all its moisture. The extra moisture "condenses," or turns into water or ice crystals, which become visible as cloud or fog. If the droplets become large enough, they fall in the form of rain. Our little picture shows how warm moist air, suddenly chilled by blowing over cold land and sea cuase fog. At sea, fog is very dangerous. Jerry had gone forward to keep a lookout at the bow of his sailboat in a fog. Suddenly a steamer loomed up dead ahead. Tom, at the wheel, heard Jerry's shout; steered out of the way just have believed it could happen to PREST. me a third time - but it has. My youngest daughter eloped with a fellow she met two months ago at the beach. This gives me a perfect record. I am now the mother-in-law of three bums.

All my girls are beautiful and have lovely figures. This is not just mother love. They have all won beauty contests. (The oldest won a state title.) My girls are intelligent, they hold fine jobs and could have made good marriages. But no, they go for men who can't make a living, and kick them around besides.

Please explain why girls deliberately choose abusive and unworthy men?-H.S.M.

Dear H.S.M.: Some girls think they can turn that sow's ear into a silk purse. They don't realize that after the bloom is off the romance, any attempt at reform is considered nagging.

Psychiatrists tell us that women who put up with repeated physical abuse are sick. They feel worthless and inferior, and they unconsciously seek out men who will punish them.

I'm afraid I haven't helped you feel any better, mother, but I've tried to answer your question honestly.
